OFFICE OF INTERNAL REVENIT, 2

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 18, 1898.

GENTLEMEN-From representations made to this office appears that in your connection with the proceedings again collector Bailey and others, in New York, it has been a sumed that you were employed by the Treasury Departmen and after conference with the Secretary I write to correct any impression you may have to that effect, as no suther has been given by either of us for the employment, at an time, of counsel against Collector Bailey, or any other paties in this connection. It seems to both the Secretary of it Treasury and myself that whatever evidence may be a duced against any officer engaged in the collection of the Treasury and myself that whatever evidence may be a duced against any officer engaged in the collection of travenue should be submitted for examination either to it District Attorney or to the Department at Washington fe consideration before it is presented to a United States Commissioner; and in all cases where it is not thus submitted seems proper that the District Attorney should enter bis a paramoc for the defence. ## CUBA.

The Late Massacre at Santiago de Cuba.

Address of One of the Viotims to the American People-Seizure of an American Vessel by the Spanish Authorities.

SANTIAGO DE CUBA, Feb. 25, 1870. The American citizen Juan Francisco Portuondo, recently shot at the estate "San Juan," by the contra-guerrillos under Captain Boet, from the day of his arrest had a premonition of his coming fate.
When in the office of the Chief of Police in this city, he obtained a sheet of note paper and indited a hurried address to the American people, in Spanish, the language he was most accustomed to write. It was with the request that I should adopt the best means in my judgment to place it before the American people. I know of none better than forwarding it to the HERALD. I do this in the original, of which the fol-

pic. I know of none better than forwarding it to the HERALD. I do this in the original, of which the following is a translation:

At the Office of the Chief of Police,?

At the Office of the Chief of Police,?

To the American People.

In the year 1847, at Philadelphia, I became a naturalized chief of the chief of my adopted country. I returned again to Cuba, a few years ago on some private affairs, and have never accepted any position under the government, whose acts have always inspired me with borror. I have not meddled in politics. (Some few words here not intelligible.—Translator.) I have only been saked if I was yet an American citizen, answering in the affirmative. Threatening looks were thrown at me, and I feel aircady the end that awaits me. Myself and companions have been told that we are to be taken into the country, and this is for no other object than to shoot us. Can my Consul do anything for me? My friends must have spoken to him; but the Spanish government, if he has interfered, will only accelerate my execution. Thus Spain pays the sympathies by Mr. Fish and the weakness of President Grant. It is natural it should be so, when even their newspapers age the Americans fear Spain. American people in yi ife is but of little value. I do not ask for residence, I only ask to remind you that Cobs is a portion of America; that a people in the three whose sympathies are yours, a people enslaved by a nation whom they decat, that assassinates your comparious and will do you all the harm in their power.

American people, it is necessary that you comprehend that it a time to throw off your intention and recall to mind that Jefferson and Monroe have traced the line of your conductors.

JUAN PRANCISCO PORTUONDO.

JUAN FRANCISCO PORTUONDO. Portuondo was a planter, having an estate near this city, and was never known or supposed to have had any connection with politics. It is confidently asserted by his irlends that the supposition entertained by the Spaniards that he was the correspondent of the New York Herald was, in reantly, the only cause of his death. Like the others, he was a member of the Masonic order, and the establishment of this fact was sufficient for their condemnation.

Since the massacre numerous additional arrests have been made, but the parties are still in prison and apparently their trial will be conducted here and apparently their trial will be conducted here and not in the bush, so there is a chance that they may escape the fate of their predecessors. It is confirmed the statement that the Coionel of Marines was sent from here with instructions to bring the priseness in; but Boet refused to let them so and even threatened the Cotonel's life. The prisoners were then tied together two and two and marched from San Juan towards Cuba. At a short distance out they were shot, the bodies stripped and left in a heap where they probably still remain unburied. The Cobre volunteers, on receipt of this pleasant news, formed in procession and marched out with dags and music to the scene of the tragedy and satiated their brutal instancts with a sight of the corpses of the supposed enemies of the nanonal integrity. An attempt at rejoicing was made here among the Caralans but—to the honor of human nature be it spoken—it was promptly suppressed by the police.

On the 20th mst, the American sloop Champion, Captain Cox, extered the harbor in distress, having sprung a leak on her voyage from Aux Cayes to Jamaics. Some discrepancy existing in her papers the government serzed them, placed a guard on board, prevented the captain from landing to communicate with the Consul, and finally moved the vessel from her original anchorage to a point under the guns of a man-of-war. The captain on getting ashore protested, and made formal abandonment of the vessel to the Spanish government, who refuse to receive her, and so a question has arisen which the home government may have to solve.

Mr. Farsons, the newly appointed Consul, arrived on the 22d. Mr. Phillips remains as vice consul. The latter is extremely unpopular here with the government and the Catalans from the uncompromising way in which he guards the interests of his fellow subjects who are the objects of injustice and private animonely, and it is to be regretted that an occasional man-of-war does not visit this place, in order to lend the United States Consul more weight in the eyes of the and not in the bush, so there is a chance that the

THE NEW ADVERTISING DODGE.

Is It Illegal to Deface Silver Coin !- Who the Sub-Treasury Officers Say.

An important question has been raised by the re-cent advertising dodge of a few business houses in this city, which stamped the names of their firms upon silver coin and gave it in change to customers when gold fell to its present low rates. There seems to be nothing in the laws for the protection of gold and silver coin making it fliegal to stamp or cut coin so long as its weight is not reduced thereby, the statutes only probibiting the "mutilation" and "debasing" of coin, and there is no doubt that the mere stamping of a single establishment's name upon a piece would not at present affect its value; but the extent to which this may be carried involves a nice point for the interpreters of the law to decide. A considerable amount of suver coin has already been stamped with advertisements, and were this declared to be legimmate the whole specie of the country would sooner or later become defaced During the rebelilon an order was issued by the gov

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL.

WALL STREET, }
FRIDAY, March 11—0 P. M. }
The opposing elements in the Gold Room have had a battle royal of it all day, success fitting alternately from one side to the other, and leaving the situation at nightfall with a partial victory for the "bears" GOLD 114 AGAIN.

The dealers were "down town" long before the regular hour of beginning business, and as early as half-past nine o clock in the morning the price 112% was made for gold. From this figure it ran up to 113% on a decline in five-twenties in London and the firmer feeling in foreign exchange. But here a reaction took place, which was followed by another advance, the "shorts" becoming frightened and covering their contracts until the price 114 was just touched for a few minutes in the vicinity of four o'clock. Here the inevitable Washington telegrams came on the carpet, the first announcing that the House Banking Committee were in favor of reporting the Senate redistribution (and contraction) bill.

The effect was a decline to 1133. Next came the report that the Senate were discussing and were likely to pass the section of the Funding bill providing for free banking on the basis of a steady contraction of greenbacks received from the proposed new banks in exchange for four per cent bonds. Here there was a semi-panic and GOLD Adain FELL to 112% A 112%. The course of the market is shown in the table The course of the market is shown in the table;—

their balances carried. The operations of the Gold Exchange Bank were as follows:-Gold cleared.....$97,533,000 STOCKS UNSETTLED AND WEAK AT THE CLOSE. The firmer tone of the gold market early in the day resulted in no very important advance in stocks, although it strengthened the market, in which transactions were still moderate in amount. The outside moralization produce by the fluctuations in gold. The advance in the latter was regarded as simply a natural reaction after so large a Iali, stimulated as it was by speculators to "twist" the smaller dealers "short." The great abiding truth remains that the causes which put gold to 110% are still in existence, and the present interference with their operation h only temporary. The only active stocks were the Vanderbilt securities, Northwest and Lake Shore. The first mentioned rose to 97% for the stock and 95% for the scrip on the official advertisement of a four per cent dividend to be paid April 15, the books closing therefor on the 19th inst. But these prices were not maintained, as it became evident to the street that the inside members of the New York Central clique were seiling the stock which they ex-pected the public to take from their hands immediately upon the announcement. But as both stock and scrip have recently advanced about ten per cent the aforesaid public began to believe that the dividead of four per cent was already fully discounted. Northwest preferred was active under special it eventually broke to 86%. The feature of the day, however, was Northwest common, which the clique in their efforts to unload were selling all day very quietly, but which was so carefully nursed that it snowed no weakness until gold fell to 112% in the evening, when it broke to 71%, rallying to 71% at the very close. The reaction in gold during the past two days has been taken advantage of by the chiques to sell what stock they could, but they contrived to put very little of it upon the public, as the latter became extremely indifferent about doing business either way. This afternoon the orders to seil Northwestern were very generally distributed to the regular commission brokers, who got rid of a vast quantity of it when gold was rising from 113 to 114. At the same time the "bears" started the usua depressing report of an intended issue of convertible bonds—the amount in this instance being fixed at

GOVERNMENTS FEVERISH. The government market was feverish under the unsettled prices in the Gold Room, but closely sympathetic with the course of the premium. The best prices were made, curiously enough, when gold was 11314 on its first rise and again at 114, the quotations each time being aimost coincident. The Southern list was in general steady and strong, excepting for the Virginias, which have receded from the highest prices of the recent movement, owing to sales from holders, as well as through an unfavorable impression created by the Governor's report. The new Tennessees were very active, and rose to 51%. The market was otherwise dull. The only prices made at the last session of the board were the following:—Tennessee, ex-coupon, 45¼ a 45¾; do., new, 50¼ a 50¾; Virginia, ex-coupon, 73% a,74%; do., new, 71 a 71%; Georgia sevens, 93 a 94; North Carolina, ex-coupon, 47 a 47%; do., new, 22% a 22%; Missouri sixes, 94; do. FOREIGN EXCHANGE IRREGULAR. The day being the eve of the steamer there was a rather active demand for bills in the morning, and rates advanced about an eighth per cent. In the afternoon this improvement was lost and the market closed dail at 108% for prime bankers' sixty day sterling. There is really no large amount of foreign indebtedness which has not or cannot be covered with commercial bills, and hence the mability of the leading bankers to maintain quotations. The range of rates to-day was as follows:- Sterling sixty days, commercial, 107% a 108; good to prime bankers' 108% a 108%; short sight, 108% a 109; Paris, sixty days, 5.25 a 5.21%; short sight, 5.20 a 5.18%; Ant werp, 5.26 a 5.21%; Switzerland, 5.25 a 5.21%; Hamburg, 35% a 35%; Amsterdam, 40 a 40%; Frankfort, 40 a 40%; Bremen, 77% a 78%; Prussum thalers 7034 8 71.
